

Bourgogne Blanc Cuvée Phillis

The grapes of our Bourgogne Blanc have been sourced for years from two vineyards: 'Les Pellans' in Meursault and 'Champ Perrières' in Puligny-Montrachet. When making the Bourgogne Blanc, we of course age the wines from these vineyards separately. Just before bottling, we blend the wines to create a beautiful wine.

Cuvée Phillis

In 2015, we used one new oak barrel for the Champ Perrières grapes, as we knew it would be a particularly special vintage. Phillis Raaijmakers suggested we keep a small part, i.e. only three barrels, of the Champ Perrières wine apart. This resulted in a "single vineyard" Bourgogne Blanc of great quality. It's strong enough to handle the 33% new oak. Thus, in 2015, we made 840 bottles of Bourgogne Blanc Champ Perrières.
