

Monthélie

The red Monthélie from Janots & Bos comes in two forms: a wonderful wine from Les Toisières, which most resembles Volnay, but at a very attractive price. Like Volnay, it is considered a feminine wine: elegant, soft, with delicate tannins and full of fruit. However, we should note that there are also Volnay vineyards that lean more towards Pommard and show more masculine traits. This is what makes Monthélie such a fascinating wine! It lies between the subtlety of Volnay and the more robust Pommard style.

Our Monthélie is a vibrant red with dark fruit, floral notes, and a distinct hint of coffee or mocha. It has a beautiful structure and fine, silky tannins, with a long, fresh finish. It's very accessible to drink and shows all of its complexity.

Aged, it can develop into an even more beautiful wine. In addition we have a "normal" Monthélie Village with similar be it slightly less expressive characteristics.
